Anderson & Kreiger's Insurance Practice Grows

Sara Perkins Jones has joined our Insurance and Litigation practice groups.

We are pleased to announce that Sara Perkins Jones has joined the firm. She is a graduate of Northeastern School of Law and clerked for the Honorable Fernande R.V. Duffly of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts. Sara counsels clients on insurance coverage issues, complex commercial disputes, and appeals. She has litigated insurance coverage and bad faith matters in the state and federal courts, and advises insureds and insurers on coverage and reinsurance.

Sara joins the firm after five years at Ropes & Gray where, in addition to her insurance practice, she represented an array of clients, including private equity, biotechnology, and financial services entities on litigation matters. Sara's clients value her broad base of knowledge and practical advice.

Sara regularly provides pro bono legal services, representing indigent clients in divorce, child support, guardianship, and restraining order matters.

Sara joins an experienced insurance group at Anderson & Kreiger representing both insurers and insureds in coverage and reinsurance disputes, and insurance policy review and negotiation. Managing Partner Dave Mackey said that "the firm is proud to welcome Sara and we are excited about the depth she will add to our insurance practice group. We know she will make a significant contribution to the firm and its clients."
