Anderson & Kreiger is proud to announce that two of the firm's 2019 Summer Associates have joined the firm as Associates. Ezra Dunkle-Polier and Grant Glovin both have joined Anderson & Kreiger as Associates starting October 12, 2020.

Prior to law school, Ezra worked in Washington D.C. for four years, including as a communications associate for a criminal justice non-profit.

Grant is a 2020 graduate of Harvard Law School, where he served as Managing Editor of the Harvard Environmental Law Review and President of the HLS Urbanists. He received the Sears Prize, awarded to the two students with the highest GPAs in their first year, and the Irving Oberman Memorial Prize in Environmental Law. While in law school, he interned at Environmental Defense Fund and worked in the Emmett Environmental Law and Policy Clinic. He was also a research assistant for multiple professors.

Prior to law school, Grant worked at the New York City Transit Authority as a budget analyst.
