Overview

Clients from a wide range of industries including financial institutions, colleges and universities and life sciences companies turn to Steve for his decades of experience with counseling clients on the complexities of commercial insurance and contesting denials of insurance coverage. Steve has established new rights for clients in precedent-setting insurance cases, including the leading case in Massachusetts on coverage for defamation and the right to coverage for indoor pollution and “sick building” claims in the First Circuit. He also litigated Massachusetts’ leading duty to defend case. His clients include Acheron Capital (a London-based hedge fund), Harvard Pilgrim Health Care, PTC, Inc., American Tower Corporation, and several local universities.

Steve’s areas of emphasis include:

- Liability Insurance including Director’s and Officer’s (D&O) Insurance, Errors and Omissions Insurance and Environmental Insurance: Steve obtained a $9 million legal fee settlement from D&O insurers after a denial of coverage in a case about a dispute with a Hong Kong joint venturer for a casino development company and recently obtained millions in contribution to a settlement from an aviation insurer that had denied coverage for a claim against an insured for providing a defective product incorporated into aircraft components. When a fellow lawyer was denied coverage for a malpractice claim based upon late notice Steve convinced the insurer to reverse the coverage decision and settle the case without any contribution from the insured attorney.
- Property and Business Interruption Insurance: Steve currently advises a large publicly traded corporation on coverage under Events Cancellation coverage for losses arising out of COVID-19 cancellations and a large Boston hospital on its insurance coverage for COVID-related losses.
- Life and Health Insurance: Steve obtained millions of dollars in insurance coverage for a biotech company for a spilled drug.
- ERISA: Steve has successfully represented Harvard Pilgrim Health Care in a denial of benefits case in the First Circuit and in defeating a petition for certiorari to the Supreme Court.

Steve’s four decades of experience litigating insurance-related cases enables him to understand and quickly identify issues beyond those for which his clients initially seek assistance. These include seeking coverage under policies beyond those for which the client originally comes to him for advice, including where they may be indemnitees or additional insureds under policies beyond those directly purchased by the client other insurance, or indemnification obligations besides the ones that clients typically think are applicable.

For several decades Steve has provided advice to hospital-based captive insurance companies, including in disputes involving their reinsurance.

Steve has also been retained as an expert and as an arbitrator on coverage and bad faith
