

Anderson & Kreiger Welcomes Jared D. Kadich to the Firm

Anderson & Kreiger is pleased to announce that Jared D. Kadich has joined the firm.

Jared is a litigator handling construction, environmental, and public law matters. Jared began his legal career in the Boston office of Foley Hoag where he represented clients in litigation and regulatory disputes relating to environmental, consumer protection, and data privacy laws. Jared also represented sovereign states in construction disputes before international tribunals.

Prior to law school, Jared served as Chief of Staff for the Massachusetts Highway Division, where he helped oversee the statewide implementation of All-Electronic Tolling.

“We are happy Jared chose to continue his career at A&K. His experience and skills will make him a great member of the team and we’re confident he will provide great value to our clients,” said Colin Van Dyke, Managing Partner.
